PLEASE ENJOY THE COMPLIMENTARY SOAP FROM

SOAP KITCHEN WANAKA

About Us

I've always loved the smell, the feel and the look of beautiful soap and now I get the chance to indulge myself every day. Using essential oils and foraging in my kitchen and garden, each of my soaps is handcrafted and uses the best ingredients I can source. If it's bright blue and looks like a cupcake, it's not one of my soaps! I don't add any artificial fragrance, those beautiful aromas that will perfume your entire room come solely from essential oils and plants. And I don't use any artificial colour, just the natural colours of the ingredients I'm using.

The skin is your largest organ - be kind to it with quality products and essential oils that have positive effects on your skin and your wellbeing. Cleanse your body, refresh your mind.

If you're in the Queenstown Lakes area, you can find me at the Wanaka Farmers Market on Thursdays, the Queenstown Craft Market on Saturdays, and the Wanaka Craft Market on Sundays. See you there!

Greg Slui

NZ Landscape Photographer

“Photos for the soul, not the masses”

Greg was born in 1971 in Napier, New Zealand where much of his time was spent on the family orchard market garden. He moved to Christchurch in the early nineties to continue his education at Canterbury University where he discovered a passion for the great outdoors especially mountaineering and photography. Although educated in Mathematics, his love of photographing the New Zealand landscape led him to professional photography in 2002, and with his partner Rebecca opened their first gallery in Old Cromwell town.

“I will often visit a spot more than once before deciding on a composition, then wait for the light to be right for the image and try to capture a view where people are not just seeing a recording of part of the landscape but part of my inner self, so to create a piece that is not only individual and original but also interesting so that people will want to wonder and question.

I am currently shooting on a Canon 5DIII camera and a variety of lenses. Originally Tussock but now Bracken and Teazle, our Airedale terriers sometimes accompany me on my wanderings.”

Greg tries to capture “mood” in his photographs using the composition and lighting to achieve an evocative image. For the last 13 years he and Rebecca have operated their studio gallery (Endemic) from the beautiful 1913 Roxburgh Post Office, one and a half hours from Wanaka on the way to Dunedin.
